North Red Deer Council

The regular Council meeting was held in the village office on Monday evening last, with Reeve Kent and Councilor Hinch in attendance. The minutes of the meeting of July 21st were read and adopted.

The following accounts were ordered paid: John Green $5.00; C. C. Gully $5.00; C. Bueche $2.50; J. Peets $5.50; Jas. Cruickshank $1.50; F. Osborn $8.50. An account of $5.00 from J. A. Ramage for collecting poll tax in 1912 from the mill employees in accordance with an arrangement made by him with Mr. A. Clutterbuck, the then Secretary-Treasurer, was ordered back to Mr. Ramage, as it was clearly a matter for settlement between themselves and not a matter of expense to the village.

Mr. Clutterbuck was present, and placed before the Council for consideration a claim for $100.00 for four months' police work undertaken after the resignation of Mr. Breaks. He stated that no definite arrangement had been made by the then Council as regards his remuneration, and there was no record of the appointment in the minutes of Council, but he had undertaken the work willingly in anticipation that he would be remunerated. Mr. S. McLeith was present and, as a member of the Council at the time referred to, endorsed Mr. Clutterbuck's claim. Reeve Kent thought it wise to have the matter over for consideration of a full Council, and requested that Mr. Clutterbuck present an itemized account to the next meeting of Council.

Auditor A. W. G. Allen is supervising the new system of accounts being adopted by the village, same being similar to that used in the Red Deer city office. In November a printed copy of the auditor's statement will be mailed to each ratepayer.

Reeve Kent gave a verbal report to the Council regarding the visit of the sanitary engineer, Mr. Owens, who inspected the slough at the north and northwest of the village. The conditions were found to be not such as would warrant the engineer to order the work to be undertaken, but in any case all the expense would have to be borne by those ratepayers whom the engineer employed would decide upon, whether inside or outside the village limits. He recommended that the work be done, and, if possible, the present drain on Balsam Ave. be employed as the outlet into the river. The work would have to be undertaken under the new Act for the construction and maintenance of drains and ditches. It was thought by the Council that at small expense a couple of culverts might be carried off some of the slough water, and it was agreed to expend $50.00 in an effort along this line.

The Council authorized the Secretary-Treasurer, J. E. Welton, to take two weeks' vacation during the month of August.

Sunday Band Concert

The Red Deer Citizens' Band played a most enjoyable two-hour concert in Gaetz Park last Sunday afternoon, which was listened to very attentively by a large and appreciative audience. The boys have been receiving congratulations from all sides for their splendid performance. Among the selections played were the following: "Sacred March 'Beet on Light'; "Love's Old Sweet Song," cornet solo by Reg. Taylor; "The Village Blacksmith," baritone solo by Camille Rogers; "Love's Queen of the Sea," waltz; "Royalty," overture; "Forget-me-not"; "Oh, Oh, Delphine," waltz, and a number of other very pretty melodies.

The band was full strength, numbering nineteen. The present members and instrumentation are as follows: Clarinets, Wm. Gee, L. Foster, J. E. Welton; soprano, saxophone, A. Lefebvre; cornets, Chas. Fyrell, Reg. Taylor, J. E. Marshall; Gus Dahl and A. G. Waters; Eb alto, Geo. England, W. J. McLeod, E. Haste; Eb tenor, D. Rogers, R. E. Miley; Eb baritone, Camille Rogers; tubas, F. E. Stevenson, A. E. Hadley; drums, S. Putnam, Edwin Brooks.

Business Section of Athabasca Landing Burned

Edmonton, August 5.—The entire town of Athabasca is burned to the ground, with the probable exception of the Hudson's Bay store, according to very meagre information that can be obtained at here. It is known, however, that supplies are wanted, and these are being sent out on the Canadian Northern this morning. Wire and telephone communication is destroyed.

Among the burned buildings is the C.N.R. depot and the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Word has been received by R. H. Clegg, immigration officer here, that blankets and mattresses are needed at Athabasca.

About thirty of the principal buildings in the town were destroyed. There was no waterworks, although a system which has cost the town about $75,000 was to have been completed this month. The fire was first discovered by a constable named Hair, who later was badly burned in trying to rescue the inmates of the hotel. The heaviest loss is the Gagnon, whose loss is $200,000.

Sylvan Lake Auto Party

Messrs. J. Krause, C. George, H. Allen, F. O'Brien, C. Smith and Geo. Carswell comprised an auto party of Red Deer citizens to Sylvan Lake on Sunday. The drive out was very cool and pleasant, there being a fine breeze. On their arrival at the lake, about half past two, the party were met by E. Beckett, "Harry," H. Ware, D. George and C. Conis, who cordially invited them to join in an exhilarating swim, which was enjoyed to the limit. After the bath, a little canoeing and boating was indulged in. This, however, soon became too strenuous, and the party repaired to the Wilkin-on-hotel to partake of the banquet specially prepared in their honor. After lunch had been done to the good things set forth, toasts were proposed and responded to as follows: "The King," Harry Allen; "Our Country," C. George; "Sylvan Lake," F. O'Brien; "Alberta," J. Krause; "The Press," Geo. Carswell; "The Ladies," Claire Smith. After the toasts had all been replied and eloquently responded to, the party joined by some other citizens from Red Deer, started out on a launch trip around the lake, one or two minutes, such as the engine refusing to demonstrate for about half an hour, in the deepest part of the lake, and later three or four members having to take a short walk in about three feet of water, relieving the situation. About one o'clock a.m. the party again turned the crank for Red Deer, amidst cheers of good luck from Ivan Green, and other Sylvan Lake residents who had gathered to see them off. The drive home under the starry sky was delightful, and the party did not leave about three o'clock—no sadder and no wiser.

Marianna

Oscar Norby will commence cutting barley next week. He reports the crops looking splendid.

The organ for the new school house was tried for the first time last Sunday, and sounds very well. The congregation highly appreciate it.

Times are dull, but what is the use of complaining when Mother Earth gives us all that is needed for human existence.

The present year has been the best for putting up hay in the past four years, and you can bet the farmers have been making hay while the sun shines. But what's the matter with all the bachelors? Isn't it time they got busy when there are so many beautiful ladies only waiting for an opportunity?

An accident occurred the other night when a load of hay upset on level ground. Whether the accident was due to the driver being dead, the writer is unable to say, but there was an awful rumble. The writer is a suspicious man because he wants to sleep at night.

Sylvan Lake

The Times says: At last the C.N.R. is building a siding. This is a much needed improvement, as merchants having to tie the cars were unable to load their goods. On Sunday last, the Sylvan Lake Trading Co. was given one hour's time to take delivery of 40,000 lbs. of flour. As teams were not available in town, the only means of unloading was to throw out of the car into the ditch some 600 bags of flour.

Brazier has the goods. Come and see for yourself.

A Narrow Escape

The south-bound express, Wednesday evening last, went into the ditch about 6:20 o'clock in North Red Deer. Fortunately no one was hurt, and little damage resulted beyond the d-ly.

The mark of the first run off goes back to within a few yards of the crossing to the Red Deer North school, but the engine and cars went about a couple of train lengths, nearly 300 yards, before the emergency brakes gradually brought it to a standstill. The train was slowing up to cross the bridge and stop at the station, but was running at a fairly good rate round the curve owing to the down grade. The tender, mail and baggage cars got on safely off the rails, the two cars being tilted over to a rather dangerous angle, but held by the couplings, and two of hers were partly off. The other cars remained on the rails.

The south-bound passengers, with mail and baggage cars got on safely off the rails, the two cars being tilted over to a rather dangerous angle, but held by the couplings, and two of hers were partly off. The other cars remained on the rails.

The cause of the accident is supposed to be from some break in the underpinning of the tender which derailed it, and then affected the cars behind. Engineer Brown "got wise" to the accident at once, but stopped his train gradually and prevented the jamming together of the cars. Station Agent Donley and Locomotive Superintendent Little kept the passengers through with a minimum of delay.

Grade VIII Examinations

The following pupils passed their Public School leaving examination, according to published list in the provincial gazette on Saturday last: Alfred Bell, Willie Bernstein, Fred Brooks, Joe Edgington, Blanche Ellenwood, Stephen Goodmanson, Carl Hansen, Walter Havens, Mabel Houston, Darwin Houston, Ennie Mc, Jonas Jonasson, Kendal Miller, Marion Munro, Rotta Munro, Roy Quize, Annie Reinhold, Douglas Simpson, Gertrude Smith, Bessie Spiers, Annie White.

At Penhold the teacher, Miss Etta Smith, succeeded in passing both her pupils, namely, Minnie V. Johnson and Jean Pennington.

Edmonton Business Men Here To-night

The business men of Edmonton will pay Red Deer a visit in their special train this Wednesday evening, arriving at the depot at 7:45 o'clock and remaining until 9:30 o'clock. Mayor Short and about 75 of the leading citizens of the capital city will be on the train, and we hope to see a large delegation of citizens give them a hearty welcome to Red Deer.

Poplar Ridge

Mr. Sharples, late teacher of the Poplar Ridge school, has been appointed principal of the high school at Innisfail. While giving him our warmest congratulations, we are sorry to have him leave us.

The new telephone numbers went into effect on Wednesday last, and has for the time being caused a lot of confusion.

No church meeting was held on Sunday last. Neither will there be any next Sunday, as our Pastor, Rev. Mr. Bennett, is on a well earned holiday.

Henry Hart has built a fine new barn, which stands out as a credit and a landmark to the district. A dance was held in it last Friday night and was largely attended.

Haying in this district is in full swing. Good crops are the order of the day, and the farmers are all in good humor.

Hospital Donations

The following were the hospital donations for the months of June and July:

Ladies' Aid—Preserving kettle, porridge pot, wash board, cook knife, 2 paring knives, strainer, dozen cups and saucers, frozen plates, apples, oranges, sugar, cakes, meat, twenty-four yards cotton, forty-one gowns, twenty-three sheets, twenty-five rolls for screens, dozen babettes, Collin Broughton, sharpening knives, repairing of wheel chair; Mrs. Cole, cake and flowers; Mr. Parker, flowers; Mrs. Cootie, flowers; Mrs. Carswell, lettuce; Mrs. H. Towers, Carwell, lettuce; Mrs. H. Towers, 2 dozen eggs; Fred Towers, bag of potatoes, lettuce, onions; Mr. H. Snell, hall clock; John White, turnips, lettuce, radishes; Mrs. J. Gaetz, flowers.

Baseball Doings

Red Deer had a visit from the Lacombe baseball team on Thursday last, and won out after an exciting contest.

Red Deer baseball team visited Hardsdale on Friday, and after a very good contest the game ended in a tie of 9-9.

The professional men expect to pull off their game with the electricians on Friday night.

New Moderator Sleeps in Haystack

Lost on the Trail on Monday Evening Last; Finding No Room in the Inn, Sleeps 'Neath Starry Heaven.

(Castor Advance)
Rev. W. M. Miller, B.A., Presbyterian minister at Delia, and the first missionary of this church for the Castor district, had an interesting and quite too pleasant experience on Monday evening last, as he was on his way to the meeting of the newly formed Presbytery, and of which he was subsequently appointed the first moderator.

Mr. Miller's location is about 60 miles from Castor, and on Monday morning, accompanied by two same missionaries, who were on the same errand, he set out from this town. Everything went well until the evening, when they lost the trail, and about eleven o'clock landed at the humble abode of a lonely bachelor; and, like his Master, Mr. Miller, finding "No room for him in the inn," was perforce up against the option of sleeping in a stable and being cradled in a manger, or seeking repose in a haystack, beneath the starry heaven.

As a matter of fact, however, there was no stary heaven that night, at least none visible to the wandering sky-pilot; and although they chose the freedom of the haystack, it continued to hail and rain at intervals the whole of the night.

Daylight found them all refreshed, and none the worse for the experience, and the new moderator, with his companions, concluded the balance of the ten miles without further misadventure, inwardly blessing the poor lonesome bachelor, whose haystack had so opportunely served the dual purpose, and only regretting they are not Baptists instead of Calvinists.

Gull Lake Regatta, Saturday, August 9th

Saturday, August 9th, has been fixed as the date of the annual regatta at Gull Lake.

A committee, consisting of Messrs. McKenty, Macdonald and Kirby, has the arrangement of the programme well in hand, and a splendid list of aquatic competitions is being prepared.

At the present time there are a number of first-class sailboats and motor boats on the lake, and in addition hundreds of row boats and canoes. The competitions will give the owners of all descriptions of craft a chance to show their skill. Sailing races, motor races, rowing races, canoe races, swimming races, and other water sports will make an afternoon's sport well worth attending. The big event of the day will be a sailing race for a magnificent cup donated by the owners of the hotel and townsite.

In the evening a grand carnival will be held. One feature of the evening will be a fancy parade, when it is expected that every boat on the lake will turn out decorated with flags, flags and illuminations.

It is the aim of the committee in charge to make the first annual Gull Lake regatta the grandest aquatic event of the west, and with the material at their disposal they should be successful. Every resident at the lake should do what is in his power to help along the good work.—Larcombe Globe.

The Football Match of The Season

The long looked for game of football between the married vs. single local players in the league, came off at the school grounds on Wednesday last. A good sized crowd of people were in attendance, the ladies predominating. The chosen referee, W. H. Hadley, having an attack of cold feet, the services of A. Heyward were called upon and, after gaining the consent of his wife, he valiantly marched on to the field; and we might state here that he did not look so brave when the game was over. The married men were handicapped at the start by being minus one of their star players. A substitute was put on in his place, but after five minutes play his wind gave out and he retired for repairs. Notwithstanding this, the married men had the best of the game in the first half, being made making an effort that made Brookes tremble, the ball just grazing the post as it went past. Half time arrived with no goals for either side. The second half was slightly in favor of the bachelors. The majority of the married men having had to do the chores before leaving home, could not make their supply of wind last, so that they were not very aggressive, but put up a stubborn defence, having had a lot of practice in that line. Oliver got out of many difficulties by taking cover under the off-side rule, much to the chagrin of the would-be scorers of the opposition. Child Anderson in this game was assisting the defence, some uncharitable bachelor saying he was pumped out. During the last twenty minutes of the game the bachelors took a mean advantage, while the goalkeepers were not looking, and scored three goals.

The married men claim that two of them were off-side, and the other was in doubtful, and it is a notable fact that at the finish the bachelors gave three cheers for the referee. It is the owners of all descriptions of craft a chance to show their skill. Sailing races, motor races, rowing races, canoe races, swimming races, and other water sports will make an trousers. J. Coghlin wore his rather short, giving him lots of freedom. The only little was the star of stars, showing no signs of nervousness. It was found out afterwards that his wife was not present at the game.

Sport Notes

Rev. Robt. Pearson is making himself felt in amateurism just now. Go to it.

Pitcher Reg. Taylor looked unutterable things when Babe swatted his very best ball into Dr. George's residence for a home run.

J. G. Scott told his hearers at Innisfail that Red Deer were down there for the good of the game, not for the field in particular.

We have not got the swimming hole fixed up yet. But we can see light ahead. Did you read the lead or in the News last week. We will forgive the Council being slow if they are sure.

Did you see R. Hyndie win the 50 yards dash at the Bluenose picnic?

Red Deer has some runner in W. E. Hayward. We should see more of him.

How does this read? Didbury Pioneer: "The Red Deer forwards were miserably weak." Ah! Ah!

Now read this. Innisfail Province: "Red Deer showed superior team work and staying powers."

The League committee are to be commended on their action in playing a new set of forwards (with one exception) in the championship game at Innisfail. They put up the best game this year, and against a good team, too.

Let us hope Red Deer will be well represented at the Provincial association meeting at Edmonton. If we are entitled to two representatives, send them.

Would Tax The Childless Over a Certain Age

Paris, July 21.—The Figaro has received from the Rasse Française society the draft of a proposed law, taxing not only bachelors, but also all childless persons over a certain age.

According to statistics given by Dr. Bertillon, France has at present 1,350,000 bachelors, 1,800,000 childless families, 2,650,000 families with only two children each, and 2,400,000 families, each with a single child.

The proposed bill, fixing for each citizen an obligatory minimum of three children, would impose a tax of $6 for each non-existent child, so to speak, on every citizen of 40 years and over who has not three living children, or has not three children to the age of 21. The tax would, it is calculated, produce an annual revenue of $12,000,000. The proposal has been submitted to the Ministers of Justice and Finance, whose opinions have not yet been made public.

Leslieville

July 30, 1913.
Mrs. H. S. Campbell and her daughter, Mrs. A. Choate, spent a few days last week with Mrs. A. N. McKinnon.

Mrs. Wheeler, who has been holidaying with her sister, Mrs. Leath, returns to Calgary on Thursday. Mr. Pearson, of Burnt Lake, was in this district last week.

The masquerade ball, held in McKinnon Bros. hall on Friday evening, was a great success. A good crowd turned out, and the costumes were all good. The prizes were awarded to Miss Beatrice Foreman and Mr. Ted Ensign.

The Leslieville school opened last week, with Miss Kinna, of Ekville, as teacher.

Next Sunday, August 3rd, Jas. F. Sealey will hold service in Bethel Union Church at 3.30 p.m. The following Sunday, August 10th, Rev. Mr. Moore will conduct service in the afternoon, and Mr. Carlson in the evening.

The remains of the late Henry Durbin were laid to rest in the Leslieville cemetery on Sunday, July 27. Service was conducted in the church by the Rev. Mr. Moore, from whence the body was conveyed to the cemetery. Mr. Durbin was one of the oldest settlers in this district and was well known. His death has come as a shock to many, as he was only sick a few days. Mr. Durbin's relatives are all in the States, and have been notified of his death.

Gas Struck at Castor AT FOURTEEN HUNDRED FOOT LEVEL

Force of Gas in One-Inch Main Blows Off a 360 Pound Anvil—Town Illuminated—Boring Resumed at Day-Light.

Gas was struck at four o'clock Wednesday morning in such large volumes as to justify the most sanguine expectations of the Castor people, and last evening the town was illuminated until daylight with the result of the discovery.

During the evening all the Castor people who were able paid a visit to the $15,000 gas well and were delighted with the result. The flowing around the premises is forbidden, was confined to a one-inch main and the exit covered with a 360 pound anvil, which was insufficient to keep it down, and represents, according to the estimates of the men in charge, a flow of more than 250,000 feet per twenty-four hours.

As a result of the presence of gas in the main pipe, all-night shifts have been cancelled, as it is unsafe to work by lamplight, while smoking around the premises is forbidden. Work was resumed at daylight.

Blackfalds News

Blackfalds, July 29.—A bridge gang is working on the C.N.R. bridge that crosses the C.P.R. about three miles from here, putting in a steel structure.

Mr. Innes expects to leave for Chicago, this week.

Thursday last was the hottest day experienced here so far this summer, the thermometer registering 94.

The regular train for the Mountain House is only running once a week now, owing to the number of work trains that are being operated on that branch of the C.N.R. It leaves Thursdays at 2 p.m., returning Fridays.

Blackfalds Lake, about three miles from here, is becoming quite a pleasure resort. The fishing and boating are both good.

Mr. Webster, superintendent of the C.N.R., left for the Mountain House Thursday last.

Mr. Myers, boarding-house keeper, has secured the agency for the John Deere farming machinery.

The crops in this section of the country are looking fine. Haying is already in progress.

The concert in aid of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church, held Friday night last, was a success in every way.

Mrs. C. Le Blanc is expected back from Winnipeg some time this week. Mr. Roy Trout, who handles the transferring of freight and passengers from the C.P.R. to the C.N.R. has lately put on the run a large covered-in bus, which greatly adds to the comfort of passengers in hot weather.

Mrs. Brither, from Calgary, is visiting Mrs. R. Trout.

Mike Madden, the railway contractor, paid a short visit to town last week.

A large number of people left for the Mountain House Thursday last. A report came in Friday last that there were six inches of snow at the Brazeau colliers.

Keep Out the Weeds

Weeds unchecked will ruin the crop.

It isn't sufficient to plow and sow well in Spring and Fall and leave the rest to nature. There are weeds to fight.

There are weeds in business, too—weeds of competition and opposition—of public indifference from without, and of lack of enterprise from within—these that unchecked seriously retard business growth. Cultivation is the only effective weed-killer. Keep cultivating and the weeds never get a chance to thrive.

There is a combination plough and harrow, fertilizer and spray, for every business—an effective weed-killer that will keep out the weeds.

It is Advertising

It is not enough to plough and sow well with advertisements in Spring and Fall and leave the rest to human nature.

Human nature and the respect your customers bear you are not proof against the Summer weeds that can thrive on rest and apathy.

You must keep busy in the hot weather—you must keep cultivating.

Turn Summer dullness into activity by Summer Advertising. Plan Summer attractions and plant for a crop of Summer profits, and the Advertising cultivation will keep out the weeds.

THE ELECTION IN ATHABASCA.

Last Wednesday the deferred election for the Provincial Assembly was held in Athabasca, and A. G. MacKay, Liberal, was elected. This was a foregone conclusion by those who knew the methods of the machine at Edmonton. For weeks the ruling has been overruled by emissaries of the Sifton Government, promising all sorts of things, bribing, browbeating, and using all the methods so familiar to the game. Not only was Premier Sifton and all his Ministers in the thick of the fight, but many members of parliament in the third and hundreds of hirlings from Edmonton, with abundance of whiskey and cigars for those who wanted them. He there to win the seat. Mayor J. H. Woods, of Athabasca, a Conservative candidate, who put up a clean fight, had no more chance against such a brood than a four-year-old kid would have with Jack Johnson. As an instance, Mr. Wood had a large majority of votes from him in his home town of Athabasca Landing, but when the gang got through with the town Mr. Wood did not have a majority at a single poll. Mr. McHenry and Mr. Bennett were reported to have been in the riding for some time, but they were there only one night, Monday of last week, but nothing could have made any difference. The Liberals were out to the light to win by fair or foul means, and they have won out. The election will, of course, be protested. Instead of bringing the two deferred elections on at the same time, as should have been done, Peace River was left over, and will now be brought on, no doubt, in a short time. The gang of hoodlums will only move their camp to the next riding, and the Conservative, although a popular candidate, in our opinion does not stand a chance of a chance.

In the meanwhile, the government has added another Edmonton taxpayer to its already large Edmonton brigade of members, and Athabasca turned one of its popular sons down for a rank outsider and a mess of pottage, that will waste had in their month for a long time to come.

6,000 APPEALS

AGAINST ASSESSMENT.

In Battleford, Saskatchewan, there are no less than 6,000 appeals from the assessment roll of that town, out of 11,000 parcels of land. That is going south. The Herald suggests that the whole roll be set aside for the court of revision and use the valuations of last year with a small average increase. As it is important that there should be no delay in striking the tax rate for the year, it is advisable that the matter should be adjusted with as little friction as possible.

The Herald did not favor appealing to a judge, as that would in any event delay matters, and said:

"We feel sure that some of the valuations on an unshaded land could be successfully appealed against, as the Alberta judges have a decision in this summer, in a Red Deer appeal, cutting down an enclosed subdivision from $1,000 to $100 per acre, or on a farm land basis."

The clause under which the judge made his decision in Red Deer would not apply to any other city, town or village in Alberta, with perhaps the exception of Wetaskiwin, as cities come under their own charters, and towns and villages under the new act. Red Deer will likely come under its new charter next year. It is likely, therefore, that the old act has been superseded in Saskatchewan.

But six thousand appeals! Gentlemen, we take off our hats to you.

THE RIGHT VIEW.

The New York World says:—"The Winnipeg American who waved an American flag and shouted: 'Hurrah for the American eagle,' as Canadian Provincial troops marched by, deserved all he received. He is that kind of American who ought to stay home—under careful observation."

The Detroit News-Tribune observes:

"An American flag was waved in the faces of Canadian soldiers parading in their own city of Winnipeg on July 4th. It was captured and turned to pieces by loyal Canadians. At about the same hour, a crowd in Phoenix, Arizona, tore down a Mexican flag that had been raised over the Mexican Consulate there. Still, it would be hard to make up a nation of 90,000,000 without getting some roughnecks in it."

The Toronto Globe indulges in the following sneer:

"Every forty-five days during the next eighteen months a new super dreadnought will be added to the British navy. Is not that fast enough to end Mr. Borden's emergency?" This exultation on the part of the Liberal press that an added burden has been placed upon the backs of the British people, which the Canadians were willing to share, comes badly at the present time. The British people have always treated Canada generously in the way of investments. During the first six months of the present year, Canada got new issues on the London market to the extent of over $500,000,000. Could there be better proof of the financial advantage of membership, to put it even at its lowest basis, in the British Empire? It is a grand thing for a new country like Canada to have close relations with the world's greatest bank.

IN BATTLEFORD, SASKATCHEWAN, there are no less than 6,000 appeals from the assessment roll of that town, out of 11,000 parcels of land. That is going south. The Herald suggests that the whole roll be set aside for the court of revision and use the valuations of last year with a small average increase. As it is important that there should be no delay in done to show Britain that Canada is yet within the Empire and willing to share some of the burdens of that relationship.—Toronto News.

Changes in Mines Act on Aug. 1st

Edmonton, Alta., Aug. 1.—Employment of women and girls in or about coal mines is prohibited under the terms of the Mines Act, which came into force in the province of Alberta on August 1. The age limit for boys working underground is raised to 10 years, though boys over 14 years of age may be employed on the surface, providing they have reached a certain educational standard.

With a view to greater safety in the mines throughout Alberta, which shipped 3,500,000 tons of coal last year, the age of managers and pit bosses is raised to 25 years, while firemen must be at least 25 years of age.

Provision is made for the appointment of a provincial board of examiners, which may replace the district boards at present in force.

An important change regarding the inspection of mines is that workmen may now appoint outside representatives for this purpose, so that they will be in a position to submit a report without fear of dismissal. Numerous minor changes, providing for greater safety by regulating the use of explosives and general working conditions also are made in the new act.

Under the new order of things the men will be paid twice a month, instead of every 30 days as formerly. This change was demanded by representatives of the miners on the ground that hardship has been caused to miners with families who were often forced to seek credit and pay a higher price for their necessities in consequence.

The act embodies in the main the findings of a joint committee representing employers, working miners and the provincial department of mines, which met in the various mining districts last year.

Horses on Railway Tracks

Insufficiency: Passengers on Wednesday morning's southbound train had an unusual experience. Just after leaving Innisfail a bunch of horses were observed on the tracks, and the conductor made every effort to scare them away they persisted in staying between the rails. Finally the horses, five of them, got stranded in the middle of the bridge about a mile south of town.

The train was stopped and backed into town, where a supply of plank, etc., was obtained, and the men, who were rescued from their perilous position. One of them, getting his legs freed from the bridge timbers, plunged over the side of the bridge, and, after a short swim, fell on his back with his head under water. Much to the surprise of the rescuers, when assisted to his feet the horse walked away as if nothing had happened.

PLAYS FOR THE BLIND

Complete Edition of Shakespeare For Unfortunates in Darkness

Before very long those who are afflicted with blindness will be able to read the whole of Shakespeare's works in Braille.

"The blind," says Mr. Henry C. Preece, the travelling secretary of the British Empire Blind Association, "find a great noise in reading, and are especially fond of plays. Hitherto they have had to buy a dozen of Shakespeare's plays at their disposal."

Blind people are poor, as a rule, and cannot afford to spend much on their literature. Each of these plays will be sold at about 15 cents, which will cover the cost of paper, embossing and publishing.

The cost of preparing the zinc plates, from which the pages of "plays" and "drama" are embossed, will be about $1,750 to be met by public subscription.

"People do not realize," Mr. Preece continued, "that there are over a million blind in the British Empire. There are 33,000 in the United Kingdom, 150,000 in Brazil, and 450,000 in India. Nine plays have been finished, the last to be finished being 'Midsummer Night's Dream.' All the work is done by the blind at the association's headquarters in London."

Mr. Preece, though totally blind, is a man of remarkable versatility and optimism. Formerly a lecturer at King's College, London, he had to leave in a good position at the Indian Office in 1907, owing to failing sight. He played cricket at one time for Cheshire and Essex. He is a lay reader in the diocese of London.

Moonlight Makes Fish Bad

Sturgeon poisons have been always assigned to the moon, and it is not surprising to learn that a South African belief is that moonlight hastens the decomposition of fish. But it is surprising to find this belief forwarded as more than a superstition. D. E. Hutchins, of England, claims to have obtained experimental proof of this action of the moon, and suggests that it is due to some low form of life called forth or stimulated by moonlight.

FAIR NORTHERN PORT

Surveyor Says Glacier Receding and Will Form Canadian Harbor

One of the members of the Canadian Government Alaska boundary survey party, on his return from the north, said that within five years Canada will have a new seaport north of Skagway. The next inlet to the westward of Lynn Canal is Glacier Bay.

The international boundary line under the Alverstone award is a few miles from the head of Glacier Bay, which is now filled with a vast field that extends back into Canadian territory. But the surveyor says that observations for the last two years have shown that the glacier is receding at the rate of more than a mile a year.

Soon there will not be a glacier, but instead a well-protected harbor ending in the Canadian territory, the only harbor in Canadian territory within 100 miles of Skagway.

Bluenose Provincial Picnic Great Success

Maritime People Charmed With Red Deer

Wednesday last found Red Deer dressed up in holiday array, the occasion being in honor of the reunion of Alberta citizens who hail from the Maritime provinces. In response to a largely signed petition by the merchants of the city, the Mayor declared a half-holiday. The re-united movement started a couple of years ago, when the Calgary Bluenoses had a picnic, and this year found Calgary the headquarters of the movement again, but they had sent out invitations in all directions to make the affair more general. There were about two hundred and fifty people in all who took advantage of the special rates, the majority coming from Calgary. It was expected that a far greater number would be present, but the unsettled weather of the two days previous, and the fact that there were some important events on at that time, did not help to keep a large number away. The special train pulled into Red Deer at 11:20, where the people alighted, and were met by the Bluenose band, and some twenty automobiles, in addition to the Red Deer band, which livened matters up with some good music. After a look round the hotel, the party put on the depot, the visitors were taken in the cars to Waskasoo Park and the Exhibition grounds, where lunch was enjoyed in proper picnic style. WORKERS SUPPORT CUSTOMS TARIFF

In Australia and Elsewhere—it Produces Revenue and Protects Industry

Wherever the wage-earners control, free trade is dead. Australia is having a general election and both parties engaged in the fight are committed to moderate protection. For years the Federal Administration has been in the hands of the Labor party, which has maintained Customs duties against foreign imports as a means not only of raising a revenue, but also of assuring steady employment and living wages to Australian workingmen. The Labor Premier and his colleagues have been active in shutting out American trusts and in advancing the interests of the workers. The Liberal party, as the Australian Opposition is called, is composed partly of people who would be known as Liberals and partly of men who would be known as Conservatives in Canada. Sir Joseph Cook, who would become Prime Minister if the Opposition should carry the country, was once the leader of the old free trade element in the country. He now stands for the maintenance of the tariff erected by the Labor Government representing the great body of wage-earners throughout the country. What is of special interest to Canada is that both parties favor preferential trade relations with other parts of the Empire, and it is reported that Hon. Geo. E. Foster will bring back a satisfactory trade agreement from Australia.

All parts of the Empire except Great Britain are strongly committed to moderate protection for domestic industries with special Customs favors for other parts of the Empire.

TARIFF STILL HIGH

Underwood Bill Leaves American Customs Nearly Twice as Heavy as Canada's

When the United States was a weak country industrially, it needed a tariff to protect its manufacturers. By adhering to the policy of Alexander Hamilton, United States manufacturers not only secured precedence in their home market, but also acquired sufficient strength to invade foreign markets. Now that the United States has become one of the greatest industrial nations in the world its manufacturers need less protection than when its industries were struggling for existence. Why should United States manufacturers now have high protection against Canadian manufacturers? Strong should not be protected from the competition of the weak, but the weak should be protected from the competition of the strong. Strange to say, the reverse has been the case in the tariff relations of Canada and the United States. The weaker nation, industrially, has the lower tariff; even with the present revision, this will still be the case. The average ad valorem rate of the Underwood Bill is considerably higher than the average ad valorem rate imposed by the Canadian tariff. The experts who framed the Underwood Bill state that the average ad valorem rate will be 27.3 per cent. on all imports. The average ad valorem rate imposed in 1912 by the Canadian Customs tariff was only 16 per cent. on all imports. More "slashing" will be required to bring the United States tariff to the level of the Canadian tariff.

FREE TRADE

And the Wages Which are Paid Under it in England

A Liberal newspaper quotes a London police court missionary as saying that the British metropolis contains fifty thousand women workers whose wages do not exceed three cents an hour. Two hundred thousand adult male workers try to support families on less than $5 to $6 a week. Even in so-called prosperous times there are always almost countless unemployed on the verge of starvation. That is under free trade which some would impose upon Canada, but Canadian women workers do not believe that three cents an hour is good pay. Nor do Canadian male workers want to compete with Chinese labor which receives only seven cents a day. That is why they almost universally believe in a moderate protective tariff as a sound national policy conservative of their interests.

THE W. E. LORD COMPANY, LTD.

A small business without proper organization may run smoothly until it has outgrown "the one man period", but a large business must submit to a rigid and properly organized system or it will become unmanageable, beyond control, and cease to be a satisfactory place to trade.

We are always open to suggestions for the improvement of our system, not considering that it is perfect, but it is fairly developed, and the staff has no option but to conform to it, therefore if you have any complaint, please make it at the office.

The business is conducted on a positively Cash Basis, and no salesperson or driver is privileged in making any deliveries without making collection. There is no half-way house. A business must be either cash or credit. IT PAYS TO PAY CASH.

WOLVES AND BUFFALO

Extermination of Wood-Buffer Threatened by Timber Wolves

Investigation carried on by the Forestry Branch of the Dominion Government have proven conclusively that several large herds of wild buffalo are still to be found in the hilly country on the northern boundary of Alberta, in the neighborhood of the Slave River. A party working under the direction of Mr. A. J. Bell, the Government agent at Fort Smith, made a study of the habits and obtained photographs of these buffalo, which are identical in appearance with the former buffalo of the plains, the remnants of which were forced to seek shelter in the timbered fastness of the north.

These wood-buffalo have fully grown are able to defend themselves against their natural enemies, but in the winter, before the young yearlings have attained full growth, they frequently fall victims to the timber wolves. Bands of these wolves hover around the flanks of the buffalo herds as they pass in single file from one feeding ground to another, waiting for the opportunity to cut off a young animal and drive it from the beaten trail into the deep snow, where it is unable either to escape or to defend itself.

Partly eaten carcasses were found by the investigating party, which clearly indicated that the wolves were the cause. These gray timber wolves are of large size, and are very numerous in this region, where they menace the existence, not only of the wood-buffalo, but of other game as well. The Dominion Government are already offering a bounty of twenty dollars apiece for their destruction, but so sparsely inhabited is the region, and so close are the wolves in avoiding traps, that the present bounty has had little effect in reducing their numbers. It is possible that the Dominion Government will raise the bounty to forty dollars in the hope of ridding the region of these pests, and of preventing the extinction of the last wild bison in existence.

TOWN AND COUNTRY
HELP EACH OTHER

Farms and Industrial Centres are Complementary—Relations of Urban and Rural Populations

(From Winnipeg Country Life)

Man cannot live by bread alone, and a Province cannot live by farms alone or a nation by the sole industry of agriculture. Country and town are complementary—interdependent rather than independent. One is essential to the real progress and the full fruition of the other.

The country supplies the town or city with its grain and livestock, with the physical strength without which material and intellectual advancement is impossible. Most of the leading men in the business and professional life of any urban population were country-bred, and medical experts tell us that no city family can maintain its normal vitality past the second or third generation without recourse to life on the land. Our foremost statesmen, clergymen, physicians, lawyers, and educationalists, our most vigorous captains of industry, commercial magnates and railway builders came up from those rural districts which are an everlasting well-spring of urban vitality and manhood.

Outlet For Young People
Just here the law of compensation appears. If the town produces red blood for the town or city, the town or city affords a convenient outlet for this red blood. Young men and women, whose inclination or ambition renders them averse to country life find their natural field of effort in the neighboring urban centers. If each centre is not near at hand family life suffers and ever-increasing numbers of valuable citizens and their productive capacities are lost to the country, the Province or even to the nation. If these young people can find congenial city occupations or vocations in some town or city near home they remain in touch with their own people and enlarge the purchasing capacity of such centre so far as the foodstuffs produced by the neighboring farmers are concerned. In this phase of the present argument will become increasingly convincing as the agricultural communities of the West take to mixed farming and the cultivation of other foodstuffs than the primary grains.

Social Interdependence
There are far wider issues in which the urban centre confers vital and vitalizing benefits upon the territory contiguous to it for miles around. The town or city develops the social side of the race and affords opportunity for those activities in which human beings secure better results collectively than individually or in comparative isolation. It is only in populous places that colleges, universities and other institutions of learning and culture spring up, and but for these the farmer's boys and girls could have no education beyond that provided by the local public schools. But for the congregation of humanity in hundreds and thousands the nation would enjoy no development in music, painting, sculpture, architecture, in the higher civilization and finer graces of life. But for towns and cities there would have been little advancement in medical science and there would be none of those modernly equipped hospitals to which the farmer and his wife and children are glad to go for relief when stricken by disease or accident. Even religion itself would suffer for want of the driving force which it acquires in the theological colleges and philanthropic associations which are to be found only in our cities. If some of our manufacturers and business men acquire large fortunes, many of them give freely of their substance that colleges, universities, and hospitals may minister to the farming as well as the urban population.

It stands to reason, therefore, that the greater the number of towns and cities scattered about the prairie the better for those who till the soil. Villages do not grow into towns and cities without manufacturing industries, and manufacturing industries cannot live in Canada except under the wings of a fiscal policy which encourages their establishment and growth in this country. This is true for the Eastern as well as for the Western Provinces.

The Harstone Brick Co., Edmonton, Alta., are installing additional machines so as to give the plant a daily capacity of 60,000 briks. The factory will be operated by electricity.

During 1912 the Dominion Steel and Coal Co. had 5,699 men on its pay roll, but this year's requirements will run largely in excess of this, as 1,500 men will be employed in the new mine. The wage bill last year was nearly $2,500,000.

The Leithbridge Creamery Co., Ltd., has been incorporated at $25,000 with permission to increase the capital to $100,000. It contemplates erecting a creamery and cold storage plant.

A warehouse is being erected in Edmonton, Alta., for the National Drug & Chemical Co.

The Co-operative Laundry Co. are erecting a brick plant costing $50,000 in Watrous, Sask.

A paper factory costing $75,000 will be erected in Calgary, Alberta. Cases of paper and cardboard will be manufactured of straw.

The Emerson-Brantham Mfg. Co. of Yorkton, III., will establish an agricultural implement factory in Brandon, Man.

A warehouse is being erected in Chamcook, N.B., for the Canadian Sardine Company.

Spectacular Yellow Head
Pass

Edmonton, Alta., July 31.—

Seventy-five members of the Alpine Club of Canada have struck camp in the Yellowhead Pass country, west of Edmonton, where they will remain until August 9, to locate the most feasible route to the highest peaks in the Canadian Rockies. The premier is Mount Robson, which rises 13,700 feet above sea level, with a three-faced pyramid at the crest. The base, 16 miles from a railway, is the site of this year's camp.

Seasoned climbers declare that Yellowhead Pass is the most spectacular on this and the European continent and that Mount Robson is a test for the most experienced. Robson's mountain is bold and rugged, the base being dotted with evergreen trees. Above this, however, which is distinctly marked in all directions, clouds shield the summit of the mountain in its stark nakedness. The top is shrouded in eternal ice and snow. Few have reached the apex.

The climbers are accompanied by experienced guides, among them being Conrad Knudsen of Austria, and W. Schaffelmeier of Switzerland. The party includes Rev. G. B. Kinney and Donald Phillips, who were the first to scale Mount Robson; also, C. N. Thompson and L. Mumm of the English Alpine Club, and W. W. Foster, deputy minister of public works for the province of British Columbia.

Among the Americans in the party are: Professor Fay, Tufts College, Boston; Professor Prebourn, New York; Mary M. Vaux, Philadelphia; Dr. Stone, President of Pomona University, Lafayette, Ind.; and Dr. Walcott, Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution.

Don't Be Satisfied
With Average Yield
A common question round the factory receiving platform is, "How are the cows doing?" What a volume of thought that suggests. If they are doing well, it is because of good feed and careful attention; or may it be despite the feed and care they deserve, but do not get? Leaving aside the question of weather, breed, heredity and persistence of flow of milk, it is possible to account for the remarkable difference in yield that are to be found. For instance, the dairy division at Ottawa, in one locality 100 cows that gave 3,000 lbs. of fat last month, but 100 cows close by, in the same county, gave only 2,500 lbs. of fat. Another lot of 100 cows in a nearby county gave only 2,200 lbs.

Is the ordinary factory patron's herd level up to the patch of red, stable performance, or is it just lagging along in the old rut of "average" yields? Suppose the patron ascertains his herd is doing about as well as his neighbors, does it not seem a great pity that his ambition should end there?

Average cows can do vastly better if their owners train them and train themselves for better results. If each lot of 100 cows in the Dominion gave an additional 500 pounds of fat per month, would that not make a startling difference in the amount of the patron's cheese? Cow testing has helped many communities to far larger banking business, because it shows that some of the best average herds can be made to produce far more than they do at present. Make each cow pay a good profit.

Busy on C.N.R., West of Edmonton

Edmonton, Alta., July 31.—25,000 thousand men and 3,000 teams are at work on the grade of the main line of the Canadian Northern railway, west of here, with a view to doubling the mileage now in operation before the close of the season. It is planned to have the line between Edmonton and the Pacific Coast completed before the end of 1914.

Sir William Mackenzie announces that the company has placed orders for the first 100,000 rails for the line. Steel has been laid to the Alberta coast, through the Yellowhead Pass, 350 miles west of here. Westward from Fort McMurray the terminus on the Pacific Coast, the work is well advanced, and it is given out that the head of steel should reach Kamloops, B.C., at the end of the year. The company has 504 miles of line in operation in this province. This will be increased to more than 1,000 miles at the beginning of 1914.

Progress is also being made on the branch lines south of Edmonton.

Edmonton Assessment

Edmonton, Alta., July 31.—The assessment for municipal purposes in 1913 is $187,441,928, as compared with $123,175,070 for 1912, when the tax levy on land values only, was 12 mills on the dollar. The increase in assessable property over last year is $73,166,858. Twenty million dollars represents the assessment on properties which were formerly exempted, and $18,000,000 is on land recently taken into the city limits and assessed for the first time. Lands within the city, exempted from taxes, represent a valuation of $14,275,000. This includes government, city and school properties, and parks and cemeteries.

City Treasurer Barnhouse estimates that the amount of last year's assessment, which was $123,175,070, was about $1,000,000 more than in 1912. It is understood that the tax rate will not be increased this year.

Canadian Home Market
Becomes Great Consumer

Two Millions in Butter Imported Last Year to Meet Demand in Canada

Not a Pound of Butter Sent to Great Britain

Figures Show Enormous Value of Market Which Liberal Government Sought to Throw Away by Reciprocity Pact. Local Production Did Not Keep Pace With Demand.

The Liberals last election were crying for wider markets for the farmers of Canada, ignoring the fact that the best market of all is the home market, which the farmers of the Dominion already supply. This home market they would have handed over to Americans to get in exchange a market which is already over-supplied.

BRINGING IN BUTTER.

Just how great is the Canadian home market is shown by the fact that last year the Dominion imported over $2,000,000 worth of butter, most of it from New Zealand, and for the first time in sixty years exported a butter to Great Britain. Last year also we purchased half a million dollars' worth of eggs from abroad, principally from the United States, while we imported beef and mutton from New Zealand and Australia.

HOME MARKET GROWS.

Statistics show that the cause of this decline in exports and increase in imports is due, not to smaller production on the part of agriculturalists of Canada, but to the remarkable growth of the home market of the Dominion. Dairy Commissioner Riddick states that there has been as much increase in milk production in Canada as a whole during the past decade as there was during any other similar period in the history of the industry.

INCREASED CONSUMPTION.

Mr. Riddick states: "In one way or another Canadians are consuming between thirty and forty million pounds of butter annually. The products that they did ten years ago, let me give you an illustration of."

Running A Home on Prayer Alone

A TORONTO GOOD WOMAN'S EXPERIENCE

A True Christian Must Respond to Such a Call

(Toronto Mail and Empire)
From the Redemption Home and Bible Schools at Earlscourt comes the thirteenth annual report. A year or so ago readers may remember a review of one of these reports, and any account of that remarkable woman, Mrs. Eva Rose York, who has given her life to the work of redeeming fallen women. Mrs. York lives by prayer. If she needs $10, she prays for it, and in some mysterious way she gets it. It is by prayer that the Redemption Home is maintained. Other charitable institutions make known their wants to the public in various ways. Mrs. York just prays, and that her methods are successful is proved by the fact that for thirteen years she has carried on this great work almost single-handed. In the home, girls who have got into trouble are kept with their babies until they are well enough to go out and earn their own living. Only girls with no means, it would appear, go to Mrs. York. They seek her out for help, and avenues of help are closed to them. Mrs. York takes them in and provides them with whatever they need. She has enlisted the sympathies of two or three doctors and a dentist, as well as a nurse, who give their services freely, asking no pay in the coin that is current in this world, but leaving no treasure for themselves in Heaven, no doubt.

WORKING BY FAITH.

In her report Mrs. York speaks of that day in May, 1900, when without a public meeting, without a prayer circle, without a bank account, without a pledge of support from anyone on this earth, and with but a key to open an empty house, she opened the first Redemption Home. A friend had given her a bed and table and a few dishes, and had loaned her three chairs and a stove. On the difficulties that she encountered in the years that followed, earlier reports have spoken in tones of modest triumph for obstacles overcome, of prayers answered, and of good, sinful girls converted into happy, self-respecting members of society. It is hard to learn that in the past year Mrs. York and her girls have not been called upon to endure what they call "the worst days of their lives." Still, as recently as last August and September, there were dark days.

THE LOST KEY.

Of this the report says: "The test began in the summer continued with increasing severity through the whole month of July. I wrote, 'Far behind in finances, perplexed to know God's teaching and leading.' But that the burden might not be too heavy, I find that my message for that day was, 'Your Father knows that ye have need of these things.'"

"The days passed on with just enough food to keep us from starving, and money a long time just for a good square meal."

On August 16th I had an obliga-

Two Hundred Millions
in Increased Trade

Total Trade of Canada in Last Fiscal Year Well Over Billion Mark.

The trade of Canada continues to increase, and shows the astounding prosperity of the Dominion in all departments. Taking the trade in the aggregate for the twelve months ending April 30, 1913, as compared with the same twelve months of the preceding year, there is a splendid increase.

OVER BILLION.

The trade of Canada for twelve months, ending April 30, aggregated $1,079,034,011 as against $879,611,838, an increase of $200,222,173. Imports were $578,587,617, and exports $500,446,394. Imports from the United States were $142,213,313, an increase of $75,000,000 or 53 per cent. over the previous year. The total increase in imports was $127,000,000.

IN TOTAL OF EXPORTS THE INCREASE WAS $73,000,000. To Great Britain they totalled $183,734,820, and to the United States $126,605,900.

TO GREAT BRITAIN.

This is sufficient answer to those who have maintained that under the existing system Canada would not prosper. Canada is sound in every way, and under the present administration no one can say honestly that there has been anything but marvelous advance.

THE FALL OF MANNA.

On one occasion within the past twelve months there was an empty treasury, and an empty mail. It was a holiday, and the only mail of the day brought an announcement that a stranger had dropped in with $10. Again when food was scarce a letter came from Africa with a Canadian bank note. The two little girls in the home had been promised that they should have their first taste of meat when they were five years old. October 1 was the date appointed for the feast, but there was no meat at dinner and no prospect of getting any.

Then followed prayers, and the girls had their meat at supper. Through it is not to be supposed that the Redemption Home has no friends. It is the friends who support it. Mrs. York is thankful for the children who are kept going by prayers, and that if there were no prayers there would be no food and no home.

To her the news that someone is like the manna that the children of Israel found in the wilderness. It is just as beautiful a mystery. There is the faith that moves mountains.

Bryan's Salary Wail Rouses the Republic

Senator Bristow Introduces a Resolution on Matter--Congress May Move

Washington, July 15.—William J. Bryan's declaration at Hendersonville, N.C., Sunday night, that he was obliged to earn money as a Chattanooga lecturer to enable him to maintain the position of secretary of State, has grown into the proportion of a serious national incident. On every hand Mr. Bryan is being scored severely for his virtual plea of poverty and his willingness to earn money through the means he has adopted while the Premier of the Wilson Cabinet, people who have been strong supporters of Mr. Bryan are almost as severe as his enemies in condemning his course, and even in the Cabinet circle the Secretary of State is said to have his critics.

State is said to have his critics. Some friends of President Wilson go so far as to express concern that Mr. Bryan's disclosure at Hendersonville will injure the Wilson administration in a political way.

The Hendersonville incident assumed a wider importance today through the introduction of a resolution by Senator Bristow of Kansas calling on President Wilson to inform the Senate what would be a proper salary to enable the Secretary of State to live in comfort, so that Congress might take immediate steps to prevent the country from being deprived of the services of the Secretary of State.

DAVID WON A WIFE

Encounter With a Burglar Lucky Stroke for Plucky Young Salesman.

By AUGUSTUS GOODRICH SHERWIN.

There was only one ray of light visible about the place of the Interstate Manufacturing company. That was in a corner of the main office, where David Harris sat poring over an account book. Once in a while he lifted his eyes and stared dreamily at the wall. It was not from weariness or distaste for the extra work he was doing. It was when the picture of his fiancée, pretty Mary Lee, came floating into his mind, and the air castles concerning her formed a perfect vista of his future.

As to the extra work, David welcomed that heartily. It meant extra money, and ready cash was a large element in his prospects just now. The company employing him did not pay princely salaries. Practical, hard-fisted old Silas Lee, Mary's father, had set the figure David must earn before he would consent to a marriage with his daughter. What worried David was that an advance in salary seemed a long way off. Worse than that, he believed old Leo would be encouraging the advances of suitors more desirable in a money way.

"Mary loves me, that's sure," soliloquized John, "so I can only keep plugging away. Perhaps a new pluging may come along. Anyhow, I'll go at the work with the best that's in me. Hello!"

David was suddenly startled. The office door went open with a crash, and Mr. Morse, president of the company, plunged into view. He held an open telegram in his hand, and he looked anxious and flustered.

"Nobody here but you," he spoke in a disappointed tone, David fancied. "No, sir, I had some extra work."

"Yes, yes—I know all about that; but where is Simmons, the head salesman?" asked the manufacturer.

"He started on his vacation this afternoon."

Mr. Morse sank into a chair, moping his brow and acting pretty well

He chuckled when David explained Why He Was an Early Caller.

disgusted. Then he fell to looking David over. "See here," he said finally, "did you ever sell our goods?"

"Except to calling customers and through correspondence, no sir," admitted David, rather reluctantly. "Do you think you could?"

"I'd try mighty hard, given a chance," replied David, wondering if the "new opening" was coming his way.

"Very well, I'm going to test you out," declared Mr. Morse with sudden determination. "Now, listen carefully. You know Borden, our traveling salesman? From the office we worked up a ten thousand dollar order for four machines from a Mr. William Henry of Acton. There were other bids, but our goods seemed to please Henry."

"I remember the case," said David. "Three days ago Borden started for Acton. The next day we forwarded to his address at the American hotel there the specifications and contracts. Today we learned that he had gone off on one of his irregular bouts. I have just received a telegram from the American hotel, stating that he has not shown up there. You know Borden throws everything to the winds when his drinking fit takes him. I believe that some business rivals are in a plot to sidetrack him, and probably have his shut up somewhere, dazed or drugged."

"That is a pretty bad state of affairs," suggested David. "Now for the remedy," said Mr. Morse sharply. "The contract is to be let tomorrow morning at ten o'clock. If you think yourself strong enough to undertake the job—start out. If you succeed it will mean a good deal for you, I can tell you that. A train leaves in half an hour."

"I shall be a passenger on that train," said David simply, and put on his coat. At five o'clock the next morning David was camping on the front porch of the home of Mr. William Henry. He had reached Acton at midnight, had got the forward specifications and contract at the hotel, and had learned that Mr. Henry lived at a suburb ten miles out of the city. He had hired a taxicab, had arrived, and now—David was waiting for daylight and for his prospective customer to wake up.

He sat on the top step of the porch rather drowsily, but figuring out what he would say to Henry, and thinking of Mary. He had been there an hour. Suddenly the front door was pushed open. Quite as sudden a person came out. He carried a bundle down up in a sheet so big that he could not see over it, ran against David, and before the latter could get out of the way, both tumbled head over heels to the bottom of the steps.

The bundle burst open. With a clatter, silverware, jewelry and clothing spread all over the steps. David grabbed at the man. The latter nearly stunned him by kicking out, and as he dove for some near shrubbery, and disappeared.

"What's all that racket?" demanded a stentorian voice, and a man in a pajamas appeared at an upper balcony out of a room opening upon it. "Burglary, I guess," replied David. "I'll be down in a minute," shouted the man aloft. "The mischief!" he added as he reappeared below.

"The thief got away," explained David. "You see, he stumbled over me."

"Yes, but how came you to be on my porch at this unearthly hour of the morning?" inquired the drowsy house owner sleepily.

"That will be easy to explain," assured David with a smile. "I am not a trespasser with evil design."

"I should say not!" exclaimed Mr. William Henry. "You've saved me a heap. Hello, all the silver! My watch and chain! My fur winter overcoat! Why, the robber must have been ransacking the house for hours."

"Henry went inside the hallway and sounded a gong. Two servants appeared. He directed the drowsy-stricken pair to gather up the scattered plunder."

"You come in," he directed David. "Just wait till I get dressed. You must have something of a story to tell."

David was soon rejoined by his host in the library, into which he had been ushered.

"Now, then," spoke Mr. Henry, "let's hear all about it."

He looked pretty serious as David described the sudden appearance and wild flight of the burglar. The big, fat, jolly face creased into smiles, and he chuckled when David explained why he was an early caller.

"See here," said Mr. Henry, "you'll stay to breakfast with me. Then I've got something to say to you."

"If David had been drowsy from his long vigil, the encounter with the burglar had roused him up pretty thoroughly. The ample meal to which he was invited by a most agreeable host encouraged him in the belief that Mr. Henry fully appreciated his accidental helpfulness in his behalf.

"Well," spoke Mr. Henry, when the repast was concluded, "let us get down to business."

"Yes, sir," said David expectantly. "You produce that contract, and we'll sign up. If you don't deserve that and better for what you've saved me, I'm mistaken. I do it, anyway. For I think your business rivals have played a trick on you."

David Harris went proudly back to his employer with his big ten thousand dollar order. A raise in salary and position came with it, and a happy marriage within a month, and one of the pleasantest surprises of the event was a wedding present from Mr. William Henry of Acton of the best piano money could buy.

ACCOUNTING FOR GRAY HAIRS

Possibly Here Is Explanation of Why Some Men Seem to Be Prematurely Aged.

It is this kind of a wife that makes some men old and gray before their time. "William," she says, after William is curled snugly up under the blankets for the night, "did you lock the front door?"

"Yes," says William briefly. "You're sure you did?"

"Yes, sure."

"And you slipped the bolt, too?"

"Yes."

"You know you forgot it once, and it gave me such a turn when I found it out in the morning, I didn't get over it for a week. We haven't much that anybody'd want to steal, I know; but I don't want the little we have taken, for I—"

"I tell you I attended to the doors." "Well, I hope so, for goodness sake. You attended to the basement door?"

"Yes, I tell you."

"Because if you hadn't, you or I, or the other, would have to get up and attend to it now. I read today of—"

"Don't care what you read." "It said that a man forgot to—"

"I don't care if he did!"

"And in the night a burglar walked right in and—"

"I don't believe it."

"I've a good mind to get up and see if you have locked that door. You're sure?"

"How many times have I got to tell you what I did?"

"Well, you thought you locked it that time you left it unlocked."

Driven to desperation, the poor man crawls out of the warm bed and makes his way down the stairs to see if he has locked the basement door, and when he comes back the wife opens her eyes long enough to say:

"Are you sure that it was not locked when you went down?"—Pittsburg Leader.

The Union Jack
It's only a small bit of bunting.
It's only an old colored rag.
Yet thousands have died for its honor
And shed their best blood for its flag.

It's charged with the cross of St. Andrew,
Which of old, Scotland's heroes
Have led.
It carries the cross of St. Patrick.
For which Ireland's bravest have bled.

Joined with these is our old English ensign,
Britons conquer or die, but ne'er yield.
It flutters triumphant o'er ocean,
As free as the winds and the waves;
And bounteous from shackles unloosed
Neath its shadows no longer are slaves.

It floats o'er Cyprus and Malta,
O'er Canada, the Indies, Hong Kong;
And Britons, wherever their flag flies
Claim the rights which to Britons belong.
We hold it to show our devotion,
To our King, to our country, and to laws;
It's outward and visible emblem
Of advancement and Liberty's cause.
You may say it's an old bit of bunting.
You may call it an old colored rag.
But Freedom has made it majestic,
And time has ennobled the flag.

WHITE SLAVERY—PLAIN TALK.

There are two principal causes for white slavery. One is ignorance of the truth. Few young men know that they run the risk of contracting a foul disease, that is rarely ever cured. On this point, a German professor said to his class: "A man will have it as long as he lives. When he dies, his corpse he has it, and as the day of judgment his ghost will have it."

Another case is the abominable operations on women. Most of these unfortunate women were once pure young girls, who had married men who honestly thought they had been cured of the filthy disease. It is cruel that these women are not more widely known. Young people are sent away from home to business or to college totally ignorant of the dangers that lie ahead of them.

Another case is the abominable treating habit. A number of men get together and treat one another till their moral sensibilities are blunted and then they are ready for anything. What a bunch of immoral youths I have known who were led astray first in this way. The social evil, as well as the evils of the liquor traffic, will not get out of half when the treating habit is ended.

Doctors and druggists should be compelled under a heavy penalty to dispense such diseases, as well as any other contagious disease, and they should be sent to a pest house until cured, and those that cannot be cured should be prevented from returning to society.

Men of the largest experience say that white slavery could not exist without drink. Both of these evils could be controlled by law, and ever the people rise up and demand it.—Dr. H. Arnott, Sr., M.D.

MANNED BY WOMEN.

The Hiram, a schooner a hundred years old, has recently sailed from the Boston harbor manned by women, the only man on board being the captain's husband, who has signed on as his wife's first mate. The captain, James Hiram, is a well known seaman, and the Hiram for some years, and as she recently had trouble with her sailors, she has now engaged a crew of women. The vessel sailed for the coast of Maine to pick up timber for New York. She will bring back from that port a cargo of coal. As she left harbor, with Mrs. Hiram at the wheel, everything went splendidly, every stranger gave the schooner a salute, and old sailors declared she could not have been better handled by a man. What becomes of the physical force argument?

THE RECORD.

The closing of the year is fast approaching, and we have had our annual meeting in New Westminster, June 15th. The year has been one of much activity and not without its discouragement. Many new branches have been organized, and a lively interest awakened in some of the departments.

Vancouver district has recently acquired a new branch, with twenty-five members. Our most interesting work of the district is our lecturing home for women. The former quarters have proved inadequate, and next week we move to a large home in the heart of the city. We are trying to interest our citizens in the splendid work which gives a comfortable home, with every home privilege, to those who desire it for a permanent home.

We have decided to work harder than ever during exhibition to raise funds, and we are glad to report that recently our city council has granted us one thousand dollars. It is the purpose of the board of management to secure a permanent home as soon as possible. We find the press of this city most courteous and helpful. We appreciate the improvement in "The Bulletin," and wish it continued prosperity.

Yours sincerely,
L. BRYAN,
Provincial Pres. Sup.

WINNING FOR CHRIST.

Go forward, ye White Ribboners,
With courage, hope and love,
For He who led the hitherto,
Still watcheth from above.

Don't look at past year's failures,
Begin with faith so true;
That God will bless each effort,
And crown thy work anew.

Go forward, always leaning
On Him, thy faithful Lord,
Remembering past merits,
And trust His promised word.

"I never will forsake thee,"
"My grace will be enough."
"I'll always go before thee,"
And smooth wherever "is rough."

Go forward then, each new day,
The shield of faith raise high,
For the army of White Ribboners
Is bound to win—not die.

Then sing the Saviour's praises,
For all His goodness here,
Go forward, ever expecting
A temporary winning year.

HE SAYS CROPS IN CANADA ARE EXCELLENT AND RAILWAYS SATISFACTORY

Winnipeg, July 31.—"With a clearing financial sky, promise of abundant crops and better railway facilities to move these crops Canada need not be pessimistic," declared Sir Donald Mann last night on his arrival after a western tour of inspection.

"The crops in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba are looking magnificent, and the railways this fall will be much better able to handle the grain than last year," he said.

Speaking on financial matters Sir Donald mentioned that some pretty bad knicks had been handed the C.N.R. over the $15,000,000 subsidy from the Dominion Government.

"But the people are getting the roads, and that is what they want," he commented.

Referring to the $4,000,000 issue of debenture stock guaranteed by the British Columbia government, the successful flotation of which has just been announced, Sir Donald stated the money would be spent between the terminals at Victoria, Vancouver and Port Mann.

Lady Cowdray and Lady

Alexander Discuss Love And Business Men

London, July 29.—Lady Cowdray, wife of Lord Cowdray, and Lady Alexander discussed the statement made in a divorce action in Chicago that business men are hopeless failures as sweethearts. Lady Cowdray said:

"The affection of a capable man is valued infinitely more by a woman than the affection of an idle, incapable man. A man with a great business, entailing large responsibilities, may not have as much time for demonstrating his affection as an idle man with no ambitions."

"Love making is not the only interest in life," Lady Alexander said. "It is obvious that a business man may not be an ideal sweetheart, and the money which he becomes in business the less so he becomes in love. Every woman ought to recognize this and make allowance for it."
